SENIOR SUPPLEMENT

Our task in this country is to do our best, to serve our nation's interest as we see it, and not to be swayed from our course by the fainthearted or the unknowing. . .

Is that gun pointed at an unsuspecting Mr. Harrison? —Mr. Harrison, Pat Power, Bonnie Bahrt, Howard Barnhart

"Humph!!" —Vick Riley, Natalie Robar, Bill Hanley

VACANCY IN PARADISE

This year's Senior Class Play, Vacancy in Paradise, was a contemporary romantic comedy written by John Kirkpatrick.

Under the direction of Mr. Tredwell Harrison, the seniors worked hard to strengthen their acting technique in order to present a worthwhile and enjoyable production.

The cast of this year's play included Howard Barnhart, Lauren Villeneuve, Vicki Riley, Kathi Dutson, Andy Whitehead, Lee Ryder, Pat Power, Mike Brown, Mike Kelley, Suzanne Greene, Bonnie Bahrt, Mary Ann Malcolm, Lorraine Flannigan, Marilyn Bates, Bill Hanley, Grace Hall, Roberta Ritchie, Natalie Robar, and Monika Karcz.

Dick Josephs, Alan Fillebrown, and Edward Coleran work backstage.

"My! What's this?" — Mary Ann Malcolm, Jay Bates, Lee Ryder

Backstage with Kathy Dutson

A wistful Bobbi Ritchie

SENIOR PROM

On May 8, 1964, a beautiful spring night, the Weymouth High School Senior Prom was held at the Surf Ballroom, Nantasket. Everyone dined and danced throughout the night to music of Baron Hugo and his orchestra. One of the highlights of the evening was the Grand March, led by Frank Wisneski and Linda Badavas, which was immediately followed by the crowning of Sheryl Adams and Joseph Hassan as king and queen. It was truly a night to remember.

Mr. Robert West, Miss Kathleen Sinnott, Miss Mary McMorrow, Miss Helen Norris and Mrs. Susan Carroll greet the couples.

Linda Badavas and Frank Wisneski lead the Grand March.

Dan Dweir, Linda Crocker, Christine Stevens, and Dennis Tarrant, enjoying the prom.

Kip Willy, Veronica Molony, attendant, Linda Badavas and Joseph Hassan, King, watch as Frank Wisneski presents the bouquet to the Queen, Sheryl Adams.

Norma Larson entertains with a vocal solo.

"Crowded, isn't it?"

IN MEMORIAM

ALVAH RAYMOND

REQUIESCAT IN PACE

With the death of Mr. Alvah Raymond, head of the Mathematics Department, Weymouth High School lost a teacher and leader of great ability. He was a man who did more than teach, one who enjoyed working with his students and who inspired them with humor, warmth, and understanding in his classroom. He was always there with a friendly smile and infinite patience, ready to help a student with a problem. A friend to all, student and faculty alike, his personality and ability, his ideals and spirit, will never be forgotten.

Equality, Education, Opportunity for all—the American way of life. Since the time of the Declaration of Independence, Americans have sought to preserve this ideal of Democratic society from internal conflict and external aggression. Now, however, in the twentieth century, America as a result of her branching interests abroad has acquired additional responsibilities as a leader of the free world. Our nation is the spokesman for a free democratic system. With our generation rests the protection and promotion of the American way of life. Yet for us war is not a simple method of self preservation. On the contrary, as we now possess the power of ultimate annihilation, ours must be a way of peace.

Our late president, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, understood better than any other man alive the role modern America must play in the conflict between democratic and communist doctrines, between the equality preached, and the predjudice practiced. It was to us, to a young, vigorous, and concerned America that he made his plea for peace if possible but freedom at all costs, for elimination of discrimination and predjudice. It is because of this identity he had with our generation and because of our identity with the causes for which he died that we have chosen to dedicate this yearbook to him. John Fitzgerald Kennedy has bequeathed to us the protection of equality, education, opportunity for all—the American way of life.

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
President of the United States
May 29, 1917 - November 22, 1963

Dear God,

Please take care of your servant

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

Now the trumpet summons us again—not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need—not as a call to battle, though embattled we are—but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle, year in and year out, "rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation"—a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself . . .

In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility—I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world . . .

With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessings and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

I do not know whether the Battle of Waterloo was actually won on the playing fields of Eton. But it is no exaggeration to say that the struggle in which we are now engaged may well be won or lost in the classrooms of America.

Miss Birlem's lunch must be very good, for it has captured the undivided attention of Miss Kelly and Mr. McCarthy.

ADMINISTRATION '64

The function of an administration is to lead, guide, and influence. Good leadership gains respect and admiration; proper guidance offers understanding and assistance; controlled influence develops character subtley, by example rather than words, without forcing the student to unwillingly accept a prescribed way of life. Democracy is preached and practiced, for controlled leadership is the American tradition. A changing nation sets a changing pace which both administrator and student must recognize. The leaders of a high school must guide and influence students to accept and develop individual principles on which they will base their future actions, decisions, and judgments. Weymouth High has indeed earned its reputation for leadership.

Mr. Ghiorse and Robert Jones experiment with waves in the physics lab.

The purpose of a school faculty is to instill knowledge into the receptive minds of students. Our faculty at Weymouth High works sincerely toward the realization of this goal. Composed of fine teachers who know their subjects, Weymouth's faculty presents to the students the knowledge and ideals which will guide them in the future. Authority is held by the teacher without stifling the inquisitive minds of the students. Teachers are always willing to help students who are either in need of special assistance or interested in further knowledge. Strong and lasting relationships are made between teacher and student that extend into the student's future life as a memorable experience.

Mr. Martin holds up the lunch line while amusing Miss Meade with some witty remarks. Miss Toomey and Mr. O'Meara wait patiently.

CAFETERIA

Mrs. Fugua, Mrs. Cavanaugh, Mrs. LaRocco, Mrs. Barrie, Mrs. Mell, Mrs. Courchene, Mrs. Malnati, Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. Phillips, and Mrs. Broce are cafeteria workers of the Weymouth High School Annex.

The cafeteria workers of both Weymouth High and the High School Annex provide the students with well-balanced meals which meet their daily nutritional needs as well as high government standards. The meals are attractively prepared with variety. With a pleasant attitude and cheerful disposition the workers face the hungry throng. Thousands of appetites are satisfied by the appealing and nutritious lunches which are prepared in the clean modern kitchens. These staff members are not only responsible for the cleanup after lunches, but also for the care of the tables and equipment.

Mrs. Feruzza, Mrs. Belcastro, Mrs. Fernald, Mrs. Tourigny, Mrs. Serafini, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Keefe, Mrs. Boudreau, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Scope, Mrs. Embree, Mrs. Donovan, Mrs. William, and Mrs. Payne are cafeteria workers of Weymouth High School.

The custodians of Weymouth High School—kneeling: Mr. Cicchese, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Loud, Mr. Taber, and Mr. Abruzzese; standing: Mr. Butler, Mr. Holt, Mr. Bourdon, Mr. Lyons, and Mr. Barker

CUSTODIANS

Our custodians are responsible for the upkeep of Weymouth High. The obliging and considerate custodians constitute a vital part of the Weymouth High staff. The building and the surroundings are their concern, and they help to make the daily routine an enjoyable experience. Their meticulous efforts to maintain a clean and beautiful school are rewarded by the pride of students and the praises of visitors.

Mr. Silenzi and Mr. Puopolo, custodians of the Weymouth High School Annex

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Our requirements for world leadership, our hopes for economic growth, and the demands of citizenship itself in an era such as this all require the maximum development of every young American's capacity.

TOUCHDOWN FOR

Nancy Currier's idea of having girls play football and boys cheer was to help John Appleton, a senior, who was paralyzed last summer in a swimming accident. Ninety-two girls prepared for the kickoff. Once the Squares reached the one-yard line, but never made a touchdown. The second half kickoff was received by the Hippies' Nancy Clark, who ran for the touchdown. Although the Hippies won the game 6-0, John Appleton was the winner with sixteen hundred dollars.

Originator of the powder puff football game, Nancy Currier, a member of the Squares, gets set for combat.

MATH MAGIC

The Friday Math Club...Rebecca Hamlin, Barbara Fairbanks, Linda Durkee, Chester Ford, Robert Whittle, Donald Casperson, David Bostwick, Karen Lofgren, and seated, Dorothy Allen

For students interested in increasing their knowledge of mathematics, Weymouth High offers the Math Club. This organization gives students the opportunity to explore mathematical topics not covered in the regular course of studies. The officers are Pres. Robert Whittle, Vice-Pres. Leonard Tagg, Sec't. Chester Ford, Treas. Bradford Cleaves, and Program Chairman Linda Durkee. Acting as the subset of the Math Club, the Math Team is composed of nine members. The team represents our school in competitions with other South Shore Schools.

ENGLISH ENTHUSIASTS

An enjoyable and informative organization is the newly formed English Club. In order to appeal to more students the club is divided into three areas of interest: drama, journalism, and the paper back book store. Feathertop and Among Those Present were productions given by the drama section of the club. Students interested in journalism learn the proper techniques of accurate writing. The paper back book store provides an opportunity for students at Weymouth High School to purchase books inexpensively.

Mr. Longridge plans agenda for his English Club.

Mina Gauld and Christine Stevens examine the supply of the bookstore.

The Student Council...leaders in school progress: Michael Brown, Pres.; Nancy Tully, Rec. Sec't.; Lorraine Payne, Corr. Sec't.; Mary Lou Lyons, Treas.; Timothy Montgomery, Vice-Pres.

STUDENTS IN ACTION

The Student Council is among the most active groups in Weymouth High. The primary function and concern of our Student Council is to encourage and arouse school spirit. In view of this purpose, our council begins the year with a zealous pep rally before our first football game. In order to have more support at away games, buses are provided. To climax the season and this year to congratulate our Class A Champs, the Student Council sponsors a victory dance. During the year, their annual paperback book fair, which offers a vast variety of books for students and faculty, is held in the library, gaining profits for the Student Council and also the English Club. The money raised by Student Council activities is applied towards a five hundred dollar scholarship for a worthy student, continuing a tradition long established. The Student Council strives to develop citizenship and teach leadership. It serves the school by monitoring in the cafeteria and promoting a strong student-faculty relationship. These activities are carried out under the direction of Miss Kelley in hopes of serving you, the students.

EDUCATORS OF TOMORROW

Sally Nisbet, Diane Huebener, Susan Darling, and Miss Pearson, their advisor, construct a new display for the Future Teachers' Club.

The demand for more qualified teachers will increase steadily in the future. To aid students at Weymouth High who are interested in this field, the Future Teachers of America Club, a nationally affiliated organization, gives not only a preview but also preparation for students planning to enter this rewarding profession. This year members observed a class of their choice, which provided an opportunity to study classroom methods. The officers are Pres. Diane Huebener, Vice-Pres. Susan Darling, Sec't. Christine Dane, Treas. Nancie LaCrosse.

WNSH BROADCASTING

Students interested in the operation and repair of audio-visual equipment are given the opportunity to join the Audio-Visual Aids Club. Each member is familiar with operating and checking of films, regulating television and sound equipment, and controlling lights in the auditorium. WNSH, Weymouth High's closed circuit television station, supplements classwork by educational films. Whenever a teacher desires to utilize any of the school equipment, he can contact a member of the club who will perform the necessary job.

"IN GIVING

"In giving we grow" is the motto of the Junior Moral and Spiritual Values Committee. Under the direction of Howard Barnhart, Pres.; Esther Rosenthal, Sr. Sec't.; and Kenneth Powers, Jr. Sec't.; the committee gives by working with the blind, tutoring students, and being responsible for our school bulletin boards. The J.M.S.V.C. strives both in our school and in themselves for these ideals: honesty, kindness, respect, courage, loyalty, faith, self-discipline, purity, responsibility, reverence, cooperation, appreciation, courtesy, and charity. They realize these goals by serving the school and community whenever possible, developing the character of the students, and helping to develop school spirit through various planned assemblies.

HEALERS OF TOMORROW

In order to prepare girls for the rewarding and necessary profession of nursing, a chartered unit of the Future Nurses of America has been organized at Weymouth High School. To promote this club, guest speakers visit from various hospitals and nursing schools to help the members gain a preview of what a career in nursing actually is like and to acquaint the members with different phases of the profession. These lectures are not only informative but enjoyable. Related films are shown which expose the methods of first aid and the responsibilities of a nurse. Field trips to local hospitals further instill knowledge of the career. Members learn various procedures of becoming nurses which aid them in deciding what field of nursing to enter.

STUDENTS OF SERVICE

The Key Club is Weymouth High School's key to service, both in the school and in the community. Organizing school activities, working on community projects, and helping at various sports events are part of the Key Club's activities. The club further serves the school by monitoring in the cafeteria and working at the gates during football games. It serves the community by assisting in the parking of cars at a local ice show. Officers under the direction of Mr. Swanson and Mr. Olson are: Pres. Robert Paone, Vice-Pres. Howard Barnhart, Sec't. Kenneth Marston, Treas. Steven Quintin, and Lt. Gov. Paul Cameron.

VERBAL VICTORIES

The purposes of the Debate Club are many. First of all, and most important, it increases speaking ability both informally and publicly. Next, it broadens the student's knowledge and comprehension of world situations. Lastly, the club develops social growth. This year the club has visited the University of Maine, University of New Hampshire, University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth, Tufts, Bates, Colby and Columbia University for the national tournament during its debating tours. Selection for visiting these colleges depends on each member's win-loss record. Members discuss problems and variations of topics. With this method, students constantly improve their forensic abilities and add to the public image of Weymouth High.

Our school band, led by Mr. Paul Warren, performs at all football games. Steve Freeman and the majorettes contributed greatly to Weymouth High's enthusiasm at football games by leading our band down the football field at half time. The musicians spend much time rehearsing for the annual Music Festival. Many of the musicians do not limit their talents to the high school band but audition at various competitions and festivals such as the Southeastern District Concert Festival, the All-State Concert Festival, and the New England Concert Festival. Two members of our band belong to the Greater Boston Junior Youth Symphony. Many musicians contribute their talent to various civic groups, town orchestras, and musical organizations. Ed Olsen and Steve Massey as president and vice-president respectively are competent leaders of their group.

Mr. Burke, director of the orchestra

The orchestra under the able direction of Mr. Burke is composed of ambitious students wishing to obtain helpful experience in amateur competitions. During the year they improve their abilities by competing in district, state and New England festivals. Each musician gives generously of his time and talents to improve the group as a whole. This year they have added wind instruments to their orchestra.

CHORUS

The beautiful sound of music is a source of true enjoyment. Our chorus, under the direction of Mr. Aliapoulios, has brought pleasure to many. The chorus takes great pride in its music and is a credit to our school. This year for the first time the Weymouth High School Chorus performed in a concert with the Abington High School Chorus. The chorus is open to anyone who enjoys singing and working closely in a group. During the year, it sings at assemblies, occasionally providing the background music. The Chorale, a specialized group of the best vocalists, lends its voices for opening exercises and the talent show and also performed in concerts.

BUSINESS BOUND

Members of the Future Business Leaders of America are given the opportunity to acquaint themselves with various business schools, acquire knowledge concerning future positions, and to discuss many problems which they will inevitably encounter. A speaker at each meeting familiarizes them with the various available openings. Also various opportunities in this field are explained to them such as Retailing and State Civil Service jobs. One of their activities is selling class pins in order to buy a typewriter which is presented to an outstanding senior. By the end of the year, the members are well prepared to enter the business world. The officers are Pres. Anita Russo, Vice-Pres. Margaret O'Brien and Sherry Roberts, Sec't. Nancy Noyes, Treas. A WEALTH OF WORDS

Student library assistants are chosen on the basis of these qualifications: scholarship, willingness to work, love for books, and recommendation by their teachers. Organized student participation in the school library program gives opportunities for leadership and cooperation and expands the student's knowledge and appreciation of libraries. Both before and after school and also during study periods, members of the club learn to charge, card, and shelve books; collect fines; file catalogue cards; and monitor the library during study periods. This program provides many lasting values for the students involved and leads to an interest in library work as a profession.

The Reflector staff, under the guidance of Miss Andem, Mr. Dolan, and Mr. Roberts, publishes our school paper three times a year. Although the Reflector is mainly composed of stories, poems, and essays written by students, it also includes such special features as a question poll, "The Spy," "Snoops," foreign language puzzles, and reports and photographs of sports and club activities. Once a year the Reflector conducts a literary contest in which all students are urged to participate. The paper is organized by the literary staff, which also writes columns, prepares layouts, and selects literary entries. The art staff is an important part of the Reflector. Accompanying each article is an original drawing by a talented member of the art staff. The paper is financed by ads solicited from local business firms by the advertising staff. Printed by the Vocational School print shop, each issue is enjoyable and laudable.

A history in pictures, this is our Campus. It tells of our last year at Weymouth High. Looking at this book brings many fond and memorable moments. It recalls our victories, our losses, our fun, and, maybe, our anxieties. Working on the Campus is one of the most rewarding experiences in high school. We produced a book. We have learned much from this experience; we came knowing nothing at all about the making of a yearbook. Working on the Campus staff has placed many responsibilities on us. Many times throughout the year members of the staff remained after the late buses to meet a deadline. Every task, no matter how insignificant, had to be done and done well. Not only did working on the yearbook staff teach us responsibility, but it also afforded pleasure. The good times we shared are countless. And finally, there is an immense feeling of satisfaction. We have created a yearbook, a history in pictures, that will serve as a remembrance to the class of 1964.

With ingenuity, new cheers and routines including splits, cartwheels, and a human pyramid were created; polished; and perfected. Arousing school spirit, they tirelessly screamed themselves hoarse. The excited fans united their voices in wild enthusiasm. The teams realized with pride that the school, led by the cheerleaders, was with them all the way. The student body and teams are indebted to the dedicated leadership of the cheerleaders at football games, basketball games, and pep rallies.

At our football rally in September the cheer "Come on Wey-mouth on to victory-y!" was cried by a thousand hopeful students. At the Brockton Thanksgiving day game, played before a crowd of some fifteen thousand people, our hope was fully realized as Weymouth won its seventh victory of the season, earning them the Class "A" and Suburban League Championships. The Maroons, using mostly veteran seniors, fought their way to a record of seven wins, no losses, and one tie and placed nineteenth in the national standings. Our team's outstanding traits were its fine defense, which allowed the opponents, on an average, less than one touchdown per game, and its explosive offense, led by quarterback Jack Burns and Junior fullback Mike Busa. Co-captains Brown and Burns and end Joe Hassan combined to make everybody's all scholastic teams. The defensive line of Mike Brown, Jay Asher, Joe Hassan, Pat Power, Ed O'Brien, Bob Traknis, and junior Brian Silveira drew praise throughout the year. Leading the fine blocking of the offensive line were Bill Schleiff, Harry Winnie, and junior Norm Hazen. Outstanding backs included Dick Nicholson, Bill Williams, and juniors Jim Dunn and Dave Ellison.

The most successful winter track season in Weymouth High School history, was climaxed by a stunning upset victory in the State Championships. The members of the team scoring in the state meet were Paul Donovan, Larry O'Connor, Don Dunlay, Mike Busa, Glenn Gately, Harvey Eaton, Dick O'Connor, and Steve Temple. Other regular season stand-outs were Kevin Stewart, hurdles; Steve DePari, fifty yd. dash; Jake D'Acci, 300 yd. run; Robert Allen, 100 yd. run; Bill Downey and Alan Will, one mile run; and Dave Sjostedt and Arthur Doine, two mile run. In only two years as coaches, Mr. O'Leary and assistant coach Mr. Bleakney have established Weymouth as a track power. This diligent coaching, coupled with the strong desire of the boys bringing about a successful season is to be congratulated.

OUTDOOR MEN

Larry O'Connor enters the stretch.

With fifteen returning lettermen Weymouth's spring track team continued its reputation as one of the finest in the South Shore. Co-captains Larry O'Connor and Steve Temple were leading point scorers along with Paul Donovan, Glenn Gately, Harvey Eaton, Dick O'Connor, Mike Busa, and Don Dunlay. With the expert coaching of Mr. O'Leary and Mr. Bleakney and with the fine determination of the boys, Weymouth achieved a fine season.

Team spirit, experienced coaching, and developed skill helped Weymouth High witness its first undefeated cross country season since 1957. Not only did we have a perfect dual meet slate, but we also finished second in both the South Shore and Boston City Meets and fourth in the State Meet.

HOOPSTERS MAKE TECH

Because of its hustle and desire, the Weymouth High School basketball team developed into one of the finest in Eastern Massachusetts. After a rather mediocre six wins and four losses in the first half of the season, the team bounced back surprisingly with eight wins and only two losses in the second half. The overall record for the season of fourteen wins and six losses enabled the team to compete in the state-wide Tech Tournament. Playing in the strong Suburban League, Weymouth finished third behind Rindge Tech and Brockton. Spearheaded by senior co-captains Frank Wisneski and Steve Quintin, two of the finest players Weymouth has seen in a number of years, Weymouth pulled upset over upset to achieve a seven game winning streak in league play. Although our team was handicapped all season by a lack of height, senior Jim Ransom contributed many fine performances as team center. The team, coached by William Kearns, will look equally bright next year with juniors Dave Ellison, Dick Bush, and Dick Walsh, and sophomore starter Steve Gregg all returning.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Bill Schlieff, Blair Ames, and Ron Ouellet. Ron captured the State Wrestling Championship and placed second in the New England Championships. Blair Ames and Warren Assmus each picked up a third place in the state meet and Bill Schlieff placed 4th in the New Englands.

Weymouth's hustling icemen and their all-star goalie, Jay Steele, battled to a tie for fourth place in this year's league standing despite a lack of size. Three Weymouth players were selected for the league all-star team. They were captain Richie Godin, who hardly left the ice; junior center Bob Sheehan, who made 20 of the team's 30 goals and was third highest scorer in the league; and goalie Jay Steele. Ron Haven at forward, and Joe Cirigliano and John McMorrow at defense did a fine job. Underclassmen Jim Cadigan and Steve Massey played well throughout the season and show promise for coach William Dempsey's future team. All in all the team made an excellent showing, and they deserve our congratulations for a fine performance throughout the year.

FUTURE MAJOR LEAGUERS

Offensive power combined with an excellent pitching staff proved to be the main assets of the Weymouth High School baseball team this season. With the help of seven returning lettermen coach George Player was able to field a fine squad. Senior John Burns ranked as the number one pitcher while junior Jim Buker also was an asset to the pitching staff. The important behind-the-plate roll was ably filled by senior Cliff Hillyer and junior Jim Dunn. Helping to provide the offensive punch necessary to all good teams were seniors Paul Doyle and Frank Wisneski assisted by junior Dave Ellison.

Carlyn Miller — captain and outstanding member of Weymouth's gymnastic team

GYMNASTS MAKE GOOD

This year saw the addition of another interscholastic sport at Weymouth High School. It was the first year for the Boys' Gymnastic Team formed under the coaching of Mr. Hayes and Mr. Corrigan. Although it was the first year for the team, it did very well as it was undefeated in Suburban League competition. Then in a championship meet held at Weymouth High School, our relatively inexperienced team placed second to a more well-established Newton team. Ed Mahn, the only senior on the team, was the captain. The newly-formed team looks forward with hope since it was composed of mainly juniors and sophomores.

Bruce McGonigle works out on the even parallels.

Howard Barnhart completes a serve.

Weymouth's tennis team continued as one of the finest on the South Shore this season. Despite the relatively short time since the team was established, it has progressed steadily because of the able coaching of Mr. William Dempsey and because of the many hours spent by the boys in diligent practice. With a strong nucleus of singles and doubles players consisting of senior first-man Robert Paone and seniors Howard Barnhart and Paul Cameron along with promising juniors Dave Haley and Jim Murphy, Weymouth was able to defeat many formidable opponents. This year, although only its second in Division One, Weymouth was one of the better teams in the league. Facing a demanding schedule consisting of Quincy, Hingham, Scituate, and many other strong teams, Weymouth showed excellent ability.

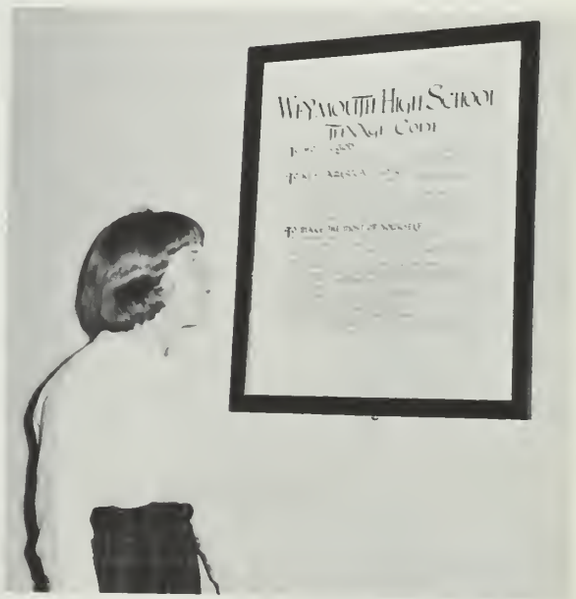
CREAM OF THE CROP

The character of the high school student reflects the character of the future citizen. Those individuals who exemplify the qualities of good citizenship in high school are the ones who will accept the challenge that lies beyond the high school doors. The class of 1964 recognizes these outstanding seniors as representatives of the high calibre of our class.



Esther Rosenthal — Secretary of J.M.S.V.C., Assistant Editor of Campus, a high honor student on the Student Council; smiling and always willing to help

I look forward to an America which will not be afraid of grace and beauty; which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business and statecraft...which commands respect not only for its strength but for its civilization as well...My call is to the young at heart, regardless of age—to the stout in spirit, regardless of party—to all who respond to the scriptural call: "Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It is with sincere gratitude that we, the staff of the 1964 Campus, wish to thank those who so unselfishly aided us in the production of our yearbook. Our objective was to dedicate the 1964 Campus to the President; without this assistance our efforts would have held little meaning. We would especially like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

For the unhesitating cooperation of George Sullivan and the Boston Traveler in providing photographic assistance, we are indebted. We also wish to thank Walter Donovan for his patient efforts in the painstaking selection of President Kennedy's memorable words—and Mrs. Hilda Marston for her invaluable and cheerful help all year long.

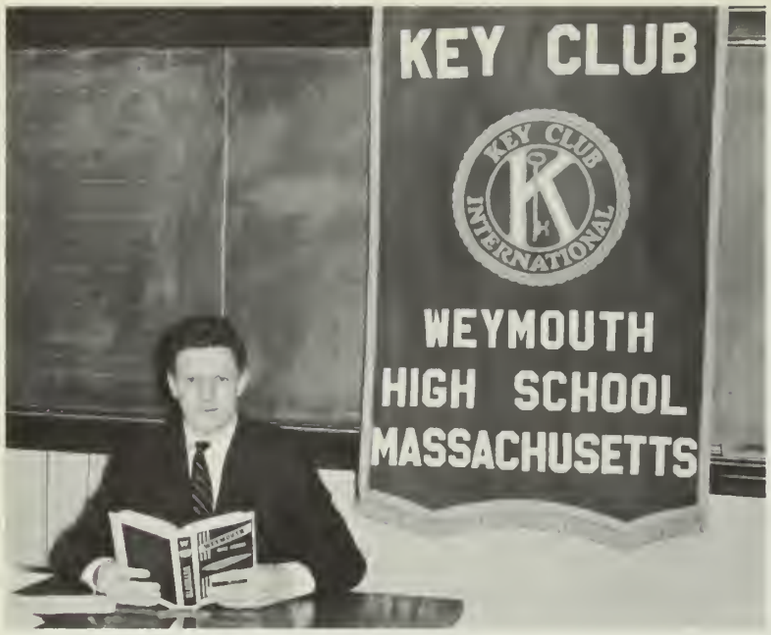
SOPHOMORE SUPPLEMENT

I believe a strong America is one that leads the free world, not just because we are the richest or the strongest or the most powerful, but because we exert that leadership for the cause of freedom around the globe, because we act as well as react, because we propose as well as oppose, because we have earned the respect of our friends as well as the respect of our enemies, and because we are moving on the road to peace.



Frank Tonis presiding over Key Club meeting.

The sophomore leaders are a group of club representatives who have been especially active in various school activities throughout the year and who have been singled out for their eagerness and reliability. The purpose of having such a group is to give each one recognition for his hard and loyal work. These sophomores, as officers and active members, have just begun to lead us in our responsibilities as the class of 1966. By donating their time to make these activities successful, they spur others on to higher goals. We know the only way to insure a brighter future for ourselves is to have people who will take the initiative and will never stop until they have done their best. In doing this, the sophomore leaders show their interest in the betterment of Weymouth High School.

The sophomore pictures this year show a class split in many minor ways but united in the most important. The students are located in different buildings; the classrooms, new and old, are different; but the class shows its spirit for the same school; and the students are all striving for the same goals. By following the students up stairways, through crowded corridors, in to the hectic cafeteria, and around the school, we photographed them in well-known situations, both in and out of the classrooms. Catching them off-guard, we see them as they really are in their daily routine. In this way, the staff has attempted to show, in pictures, the personality of its class during a normal school day.

Since this was an experimental year for a sophomore supplement, the sophomores faced a difficult task. Attempting to produce a successful and entertaining yearbook, they worked completely untrained. Many hours were spent by the staff planning, writing, and photographing. The work was done by the sophomores themselves, but without the help of the Juniors, this supplement would not have been possible.

The Sophomore Campus Staff arrives for a meeting.

JUNIOR SUPPLEMENT

I believe a strong America is one that leads the free world, not just because we are the richest or the strongest or the most powerful, but because we exert that leadership for the cause of freedom around the globe, because we act as well as react, because we propose as well as oppose, because we have earned the respect of our friends as well as the respect of our enemies, and because we are moving on the road to peace.

The junior class can look with pride on the year's accomplishments. We have added to Weymouth High School in the fields of scholarship, leadership, service and loyalty. Although divided as sophomores in both the new and old high schools, the class of 1965 has been unified in its goals. In all school projects and activities we have contributed enthusiasm and spirit.

We have looked to the senior class for leadership and have willingly supported them. Now as we prepare to assume our roles as the next senior class, we must rely on the next junior class for its support. We have served two years of apprenticeship at Weymouth High School well and can look ahead confidently to the final year's preparation before seeking our futures independently.

CLASS OF 1965

Electing four students from hundreds is a difficult job, and the honor of being one of those elected should be considered great. Class officers must serve as a link between their classmates and the rest of the school, keeping each in contact with the plans and activities of the other. Last year the junior class officers, Harry Giblin, David Ellison, Helen Gannon, and Virginia Meany, were elected by the class as their representatives. These four people began the task of uniting our class, which had been divided during its entire sophomore year, a factor which might have severely damaged our school spirit. Under the direction of Miss Meade and Mr. Powers, the officers planned the events of our junior year, among them our class party. The faith of the junior class has been entrusted to our officers, as people we consider capable in their responsibilities of judgment and leadership.

John Vaster, Gerald Waylor, William Senters, Hugh MacKinnon, Paul Maloney, Walter Julian, Larry Straw and Kenneth Stuart participate in Student Government.

TALENTED TRADESMEN

The Vocational School Student Government actively serves the school by striving to improve it. It endeavors to assist in upgrading citizenship, neatness, discipline, and honor in and out of school. The vocational juniors and seniors themselves elect the members as well as its chairman, who presides over all meetings. Each year they also select promising sophomores to participate the following year. There are approximately twenty representatives, one from each division. They carry a great deal of responsibility and use wise judgment in the varied situations confronting them.

Future nurses Dorothy McCann and Arlene Cannon animatedly discuss their activities.

Judy MacMillan prepares for gym meet.

Helen Gannon and Donald Casperson post a Junior Moral and Spiritual Values Committee sign.

JUNIOR LEADERS

These members of our junior class have been especially active in various school activities throughout the year. They have been selected from the participants of the numerous clubs and organizations as those who have been outstanding. These juniors, as officers and active members, have led us in our responsibilities as the class of 1965. By donating their time to make these activities successful, they have shown their interest in the betterment of Weymouth High School.

JUNIOR SCHOLARS

Our junior class is proud of its 100 members who have achieved high honor or honor roll status. The junior Campus staff feels that these members of our class particularly deserve recognition because of their outstanding efforts in their studies. In order to attain high honors a student must have an "A" average; for honor roll, a "B" average. The importance of scholastic accomplishment cannot be overstressed. In the highly competitive world of today an education is a necessity. The excellent students of today become the outstanding citizens of tomorrow.

ENTHUSIASM—PLUS

Cheerfully, Carole Burns manages Junior Sales.

Thanks to the efforts of the Junior Campus Sales Staff and the cooperation of the junior homerooms, more yearbooks were sold to juniors this year than ever before. The Junior Sales Staff, consisting of forty-four members, enthusiastically took orders for the Campus between November and January. They sold more than five hundred copies to their classmates. Charlotte Dillon, selling thirty-three yearbooks, led the Junior Sales Staff with her ambitious salesmanship. In addition, homerooms 131 and 235 were well represented, showing 90 per cent sales.

THE LONGEST DAY

The start of a day at Weymouth High provides many opportunities for the student in many different fields. From the time he steps into his first class at 8:00 A.M. until the end of the school day, there are a great number of classes and activities which both increase his knowledge and aid him in preparing for his vocation in later life. Only the provident student who utilizes these opportunities and tries earnestly and sincerely to do his best will profit from them.

Weymouth High School does not limit its students to one field or course of study. A student with varied interests may choose from the College, Business, General, or Vocational courses, and in each find one or more subjects which will be of importance to him. A good curriculum always motivates the student to do his best. The curriculum at Weymouth High is formed to offer the best in training for students, whether they intend to further their education after graduation or go directly into some form of business. A person attending Weymouth High School should consider himself extremely privileged, for our school realizes the individual interests of its students and offers an excellent variety of courses. One who has graduated from our school is always prepared to accept the responsibilities of any future challenges.

The staff of the junior Campus has provided the junior class with both a review and a preview of its years at Weymouth High. This review permits the class to inspect its many past accomplishments, while the preview looks forward to its new opportunities in the coming senior year. During our sophomore and junior years the class has enthusiastically supported the ideas and activities of the upperclassmen, while at the same time it attempted to contribute its own ideas for the general benefit of the entire school. We began to assume our many responsibilities of leadership in preparation for our most important year ahead and to develop ourselves as individuals, rather than just a group of followers. On the pages of the junior Campus supplement, the staff has endeavored to point out the personality and individualism of our class, a class which we feel confident has already begun to leave its impression on Weymouth High School.
